

Red Spot at Supermarket 2016: Participating artists

April 21–24 the performance stage Red Spot will show new, innovative performance by artists from all over the world.

Supermarket's stage Red Spot stage presents the latest within contemporary performance. This year 'Jam Cardell' is first up, where secret guests perform together with Jan Cardell's musical sculptures. The sound artists Ann Rosén and Sofia Härdig from Fylkingen, an association for experimental music and arts in Stockholm, will also visit the Red Spot with 'Sound Performance' and 'LIVE SENTENCES' respectively, as well as Katherine Nolan from the Irish MART gallery. The artist Dorinel Marc will arrange a continuous performance workshop between April 21st and 24th, open to all visitors.

Further, the experimental platform Weld visits Supermarket, presenting an exclusive preview of 'Phoenix' choreographed by Rebecka Stillman. 'Phoenix' will premiere on April 28th at Dansens Hus, the centre of international contemporary dance in Sweden.

Several of the performances at the Red Spot program also take place offstage. Joakim Stampe and Chuyia Chia from Gothenburg will perform at several locations outside as well as inside the exhibition. The performance gallery Galeria Raczej from Poland will transform their exhibition booth into an interactive performance exhibition, and Grafik i Väst in collaboration with Grafiska Sällskapet from Sweden presents the artwork 'Printmaking as Performance'.

On April 24 the Fashion Revolution Day will be acknowledged all over the world, and will visit Supermarket, presenting a performance by the Swedish designer Amandah Andersson. Fashion Revolution Day works to promote sustainable development and innovation within the fashion industry.

Above is only a selection of what will be presented at this year's edition of the Red Spot. The program is continuously updated at www.supermarketartfair.com
