

Press release 2026-04-21

Sanna Söderholm, "Lustre", performance, photo: Thomas Hultgren

SUPERMARKET Celebrates 20 Years With a Vibrant Talks & Performance Programme

SUPERMARKET – Stockholm Independent Art Fair celebrates its 20th anniversary on 23–26 April 2026 and presents an extensive international programme of talks and performances featuring artists from around the world. The programme ranges from ritual-based works and participatory art to panel discussions addressing contemporary art and political questions.

Over the span of four days visitors are invited to experience a dynamic schedule with a mix of stage-based and site-specific performances. The opening piece At the Crossroads by Johan Christiansson Drake and Camilla Sivam, a ritual-based work inspired by Vodou traditions, as well as The Door Was Right Here by Jasmine Albuquerque Croissant – brings a powerful and personal take on loss, trauma, and rebirth following the devastating wildfires in California.

The audience is also invited to directly take part in artistic processes, such as in Fertile Stones: A Granular Exchange, where visitors collaborate with the artist Theo

Hynan-Ratcliffe to create clay objects and share stories. In Make Me by Diva Collective, the work is shaped in real time through the presence and actions of the audience, making each performance unique.

Theo Hynan Ratcliffe, 'Sleeping in the stones', video, plaster, handmade paper from dust, hair, artist's garden apples and scrap paper, 2025

The programme includes discussions on current issues within the contemporary art context, such as a talk with Ksi Prostir from Dnipro, Ukraine, focusing on Ukrainian artist-run initiatives and their work with decolonisation and self-organisation, as well as conversations about artists' working conditions, mental health, and the future of art institutions.

On Saturday, a panel discussion will, for the first time, be held entirely in Spanish – a refreshing break from the usual English-dominant format featuring participants such as Galería Metropolitana from Santiago de Chile, Casa Belgrado from Buenos Aires, and Fosforita from Madrid.

With a wide range of expressions – from sound-based works and circus-inspired acts to VR-based performances and musical elements – the anniversary year becomes a unique meeting place for experimental contemporary art, where the audience is not only observing but actively participating.

Press preview: 22 April, 11.00

Accreditation: accred@supermarketartfair.com

Public dates: 23–26 April

More information: Felicia Gränd, Press officer, email: press@supermarketartfair.com, phone: +46 (0) 70 948 38 30